- 1 A major problem that faces modern cities is how to deal with the
- 2 increasing amount of garbage that people produce. Cairo, the capital of
- 3 Egypt, has a population of 15 million people. This leads to an enormous
- 4 amount of garbage. Yet, until recently, the city had no official system for
- 5 collecting garbage. Instead, a group of people known as the Zabbaleen
- 6 collected and recycled the garbage in order to make a living for themselves.
- 7 Now, many people are saying that the Zabbaleen's methods were more
- 8 efficient than those used in most of the world.
